Middle School Dance- Friday 7-9pm

Academically Speaking

In Language Arts, we are beginning our next class novel Milkweed. This book is about a young Jewish boy trying to survive in the Ghetto. Students have also begun their new small group novel book. These books are all historical fiction. Students should be keeping up with the required reading and responses for their group book. In addition, students should be reading a book of their choice at home or throughout the day if they have time. Our hope is that students will find an additional 10-15 minutes during the school day and again at home to read their silent reading book. Silent reading book projects are due on the first day of each month.

In Science, we are conducting labs to identify Covalent and Ionic bonds. There will be a test over chapter 6 on Friday.
