Science: Designing and testing thermoses will continue this week, and then we will move on to learning about solutions in chemistry: how substances dissolve and melt, and what solubility means.

In next week's lesson, your child will envision their future self-concept, or how they want to see themselves in the future.

Holiday Sock Exchange!

To kick off the winter holidays, and get a fun new pair of socks, we would like to have a small gift exchange for the students.

- Please send in one pair of new socks, wrapped in gift paper, by Tuesday, December 16 (this gives us time to purchase additional socks so all students can participate).
- For most of our students, adult-size socks should be a good fit.
- We would like to set a $5.00 limit to keep this affordable for everyone.
- Creative wrapping is encouraged! You do not need to put a name on the package. They will be randomly chosen/swapped.
